Shakopee, Minnesota

“We have developed relationships of trust and respect with many of the area’s top architects and designers. Our clients recognize and appreciate the creative energy that results.”

—Scott Terwilliger

ABOVE & FACING PAGE: Our working relationship with some of the region’s best architects and contractors is in part due to a mutual understanding of quality, from a simple anigre loft kitchen to a master suite fireplace setting. Collaboration of the design team and an insistence on quality are key to perfect results.

“As a custom shop, we specialize in innovative and unique work that is tailored for a specific client or project. To grasp the design intent we often will meet with clients multiple times in order to fully understand their vision.”

FACING PAGE: The material composition of the kitchen turned out exactly as the client envisioned. The combination of exotic stone counters and stainless steel, Swiss pear and makore cabinets makes the room truly stand out. The open design and highly functional space, such as the corner banquette, bar and multiple workstations, give the kitchen a timelessness that only comes with meticulous planning.

“Every project is like a new book, the uniqueness of each being driven by the client and the selected design team. The end product, not fully realized until completion of the work, typically exceeds all expectations.”

—Scott Terwilliger

ABOVE: Quartersawn walnut with inlaid antique porcelain tiles surrounds a flat-screen television, giving a unique blend of classic contemporary style to the room. All the cabinet niches include side-halogen lighting to better accent the client's sculpture collection.

FACING PAGE: Our cabinetry can appear in multiple ways. Curio cabinets were designed and fabricated to mirror the curved gallery walls and to highlight the client's collectables. Side lighting, radius glass shelves and doors dramatically enhance the presentation.
